There are abundant metaphors all around us (including transportation gizmology) that our Inner Kindness Teacher can use to help us mindfully keep on course in our forgiveness classroom. This workshop will explore some of these, using lots of visual symbols and familiar indicators, as well as numerous Course references.

Workshop highlights/topics covered:

- Our Unconscious Mind's Classroom as a Windshield/Dashboard/Console View of the dream
- Helpful reminders to assist in putting feedback in a right-minded perspective
- Turning the Tables on Ego's Interpretations – Using Our Inner Kindness Teacher's Translations
- Mindfully deciding against self-judgment (which includes judging 'others'); HS: Kindly GPS
- Utilizing All Indicators/Feedback/Symbols/Metaphors as Thought System/Course Correction help
- The Windshield (Outer Shield of Oblivion) of physical form/propaganda
- Ego's Default Dashboard (Inner Shield of Oblivion) of victimhood/guilt/blame/sin/fear
- Looking with Inclusion/Shared Interests to Bypass Ego's Polarizing Feedback filtering/distortion
- Choosing against the insanity of conflicting destinations; remembering the home we never left
- Revealing the Master Switch; Overcoming our Resistance to Unchanging Love/Perfect Peace

Workshop Description: In addition to the topics noted above, the workshop will provide related quotes from ACIM, along with amusing audio-visual memory aids to remind us to not take our journey through the dream quite so seriously, a.k.a. smiling gently at ego's mis-interpretation more and more frequently.

Bruce Rawles has been a student of A Course In Miracles since the mid-1980s. Gary Renard's work abruptly catalyzed his accelerated study of ACIM in 2007, particularly the work of Kenneth Wapnick. He participates in weekly study groups in Oregon (via online video conferencing) and Colorado. He is a frequent guest/host on a variety of ACIM-related radio shows and online programs. He is the editor of ACIMblog.com and has designed and maintains several websites devoted to ACIM... including the new RockyMountainMiracleCenter.org website.
